ABOUT

SMOKING GUN URBAN STREET FOOD

Welcome to our revolutionary spin on the neighborhood bar. Smoking Gun evokes a mindset of face-to-face conversation amid innovative libations. We value principles over pretention as well as comfort over cool. Our urban setting and comfort street food have come together to play an active role in creating a refreshing place that you should stroll into for ping-pong, small plates, cold beers and great music. We mix drinks and friends together for a smokin' good time. And once you step inside our efforts are targeted on you, our guest. So drop in, rest easy and speak loudly. We've been expecting you.

ARON LANGELLIER

OWNER

A veteran of the food and beverage industry for 22 years, Aron Langellier has opened 10 restaurant establishments throughout his career. Opening number 11, The Smoking Gun is his first where he carries the title of owner.

Aron ventures to The Smoking Gun from barley mash, Gaslamp's high-energy hot spot where he holds the position of operating partner. Here, Aron is the driving force behind the productivity and efficiency of the restaurant that is often filled to capacity.

A proud Aztec, Aron journeyed to San Diego from Temecula to attend San Diego State University. However, his roots are in the Midwest, having moved from Illinois when he was just four years old. Aron fell in love with California and never left.

His success is due to his unwavering motivation to create an everlasting experience. He revels in the fact that people are enjoying an encounter that he and his team have created. Aron appreciates that guests choose to spend their rare, spare time at a location he conceived, and he wants to ensure their experience is pleasurable one.

During his free time, Aron serves as the first vice chair on the Executive Committee of the Gaslamp Quarter Association. He can also be found catching a nearby comedy show with his wife, or checking out new restaurant openings in the city.
